

Assessment Resources

The following is a list of individuals and agencies that provide private assessment services to adults with suspected learning disabilities, mental health issues, attention deficit disorder, anxiety, etc. This list is just a sampling of agencies in the area available to do assessments and counseling. Fees and insurance coverage vary, as do timeliness of interview, assessment and report preparation. You are encouraged to contact more than one agency and inquire as to the cost, length of time between assessment and report receipt, and the qualifications of the clinicians relative to your specific referral issue.
